Career Planning Workbook

ATS Core Training Webinar
November 20, 2019

Robb Glenny, MD
Goals of Workbook
- Motivate you to take stock of where you are and where you want to go.
- Provide some guidance for this self-assessment.
- Offer some tools to create your 5- and 10-year plan.
- Empower you to understand the rules for promotion to the next level.
- Encourage you to continually revisit and revise your plan.

Motivation
- We chose Academic Medicine because we value the perceived rewards from working in this environment
  - there are numerous types of rewards and, as individuals, we value them differently
  - ultimately we chose academic medicine because we thought this would be the most fulfilling career

- Academic Medicine, and we as individuals, change with time
  - need to reassess and ensure that our jobs remain fulfilling

- One of the rewards from working in academic medicine is autonomy - the freedom to create one’s own career path
  - reinforces sense of self-worth and satisfaction with accomplishments
  - comes with many responsibilities - one of which is determining your own happiness
• Career Planning is an active process
  • you need to be engaged and committed to the fulfillment of your own career goals
  • it requires quiet and reflective time
  • you need help from others to provide reality checks
  • you need to constantly revisit, reassess, and refine your plan

  • We live in an age of unprecedented opportunity.
  • With opportunity comes responsibility.
  • It is up to you to carve out your place, to know when to change course, and to keep yourself engaged and productive during a work life that may span some 50 years.
  • To do those things well, you need to cultivate a deep understanding of yourself.

Meaningful Work
“Realization of one’s potential and purpose - the point at which a person’s passions, strengths, and core values interact synergistically in his or her work.” S. J. Lieff, MD, Acad. Med. 2009
Ten Step Method

2. ______________________

3. ______________________

4. ______________________

5. ______________________
Step 3  List your talents and strengths (what got you where you are now):

Step 4  Where and what do you want to be 10 years from now?

- Think big but be practical and honest with yourself.
- What do you want to be remembered for?
Step 5

Determine intermediate goals

- Avoid “opportunities” that distract you from reaching goals.

5-year goals:

3-year goals:

1-year goals:
Step 6

What skills will you need to achieve your goals for the next 1 - 3 years?

- Get advice from senior mentors
- Determine what the University of Washington offers to teach these skills.

6. __________________________

Step 7

Create a learning contract with yourself.

- learning objectives
- target dates to accomplish objectives
- action steps and target dates
- needed resources
- state how you will evaluate success in accomplishing objectives
Step 8  Engage Supervisors and Mentors

- separate from performance reviews
- inform them of your passions and goals
- get them engaged and excited about what you want to do
- determine how your goals are aligned with promotion and the greater community

Determine rules of promotion in your department

Feedback is an invaluable gift
  Cultivate honest and caring feedback
  Use as reality checks for ultimate and short-term goals

Confirm that your meaningful work is aligned with greater community

Step 9  Repeat steps 6 and 7 for 3- and 5-year plans

Step 10  Commit effort and time to reassessment and refinement

- Maintaining and revising your career plans is an active process
- Life and your job will change with time.
- Make a pact with yourself to set time aside for reflection annually.
- Revise your learning objectives to support your goals as they evolve
- If you are honest with yourself when setting initial goals, these will likely not change drastically over time.
